Borwort.

Der Zweck dieses Werkes ist: der Jugend den Sinn der hauptsächlichsten und am häufigsten vorkommenden Worte durch Bilder zu erklären, soweit dieselben überhaupt durch Bilder dargestellt werden können. Nichts erregt das Interesse von Kindern in Büchern mehr, als Bilder: denn zeigt du einem Kinde das Bild eines Pferdes, einer Kuh oder Räze, dann wird es sicherlich ebenso gut begreifen, was es darstellt, als wenn man ihm den lebenden Gegenstand zeigte. In solcher Weise wird somit der Gegenstand und sein Name unauslöschlich dem Gedächtnisse des Kindes eingeprägt. Viele Worte sind ganz gleich buchstabirt, bedeuten aber dennoch nicht dasselbe Ding (dies ist jedoch mehrstens der Fall im Englischen). Solche Worte werden meist leichter durch Bilder verdeutlicht, als durch Erklärungen. Und da jedes einzelne Bild Anlaß zu einem kleinen Vortrag bietet, kann sowohl von den Eltern als den Kindern manche angenehme und nützliche Stunde über einem Buche dieser Art zugebracht werden. Das gegenwärtige Werk enthält zweitausend und sechsunddreißig Abbildungen (im Englischen), alphabetisch geordnet und abgestuft je nach der Zahl der Buchstaben und Silben in den verschiedenen Wörtern. Es kann daher irgend ein Wort und der korrespondirende dargestellte Gegenstand leicht gefunden werden. Sämtliche Bilder sind mit grossen Kosten für dieses Buch gezeichnet und hergestellt worden. Dasselbe wird dem Publikum übergeben in der Hoffnung, daß es Eltern und Lehrern in dem schwierigen Werke der Heranbildung der nächsten Generation behilflich sein möge.

P R E F A C E .

THE design of this work is to illustrate clearly to the minds of the young the principal and most common words which admit of being explained by the aid of pictures. Nothing in books can interest the young more than pictures; for if you show to a child the picture of a horse, cow, or cat, it will be sure to comprehend what is meant as well as if the living object was shown. Thus the object and its name may together be indelibly impressed upon the child's mind. Many words are spelled alike and yet do not mean the same thing. Such words are often more easily explained by pictures than by definitions. And since each picture suggests a small lecture, many a pleasant and profitable hour can be spent by parents and children over a book of this kind. The present work contains two thousand and thirty-six engravings, alphabetically arranged, and graded according to the number of letters and syllables in the different words. Hence any word and its corresponding object can easily be found. The pictures were all designed and engraved at great expense for this book. Being arranged in two languages, viz., English and German, makes it doubly interesting. It is just as useful for older persons, who wish to obtain a knowledge of either language in a very short time, as to the younger. It is given to the public in the hope that it may assist parents and teachers in the arduous work of educating the next generation.

ICE AND ITS STRENGTH.

Ice is water in the solid form. It is specifically lighter than water and therefore swims in it. Water in becoming solid expands about one-ninth of its volume or bulk. The color of pure ice is deep blue, which is only discernible however when it is in large masses. In the neighborhood of the poles and on mountains of a certain height in all latitudes, there exist great masses of permanent ice; and even in some of the districts of Siberia, where a kind of a culture is practicable in summer, there are found at a certain depth below the surface of the earth strata of ice mingled with sand. From the polar ice fields and glaciers, which are always protruding themselves into the sea, great floating masses become detached, and form icebergs, floes, and drift-ice. From the specific gravity, it is calculated that the volume of an iceberg below the water is eight times that of the protruding part. Sound ice 2 inches thick will bear men on foot; 4 inches thick will bear men on horseback; 6 inches thick will bear teams with heavy loads; 10 inches thick will bear a pressure of 1,000 pounds per square foot.

Dialogue.—Zwiegespräch.

At the Hotel.

A. Waiter, show us immediately two rooms and two beds.

W. Be so good as to go into the parlor a moment. So many people have arrived to-day that I do not know whether we have two room disengaged.

B. Go and see, but be quick.

Im Gasthause.

A. Kellner! Geben Sie uns sogleich zwei Zimmer mit Betten.

K. Bemühen Sie sich gefälligst einen Augenblick in den Saal. Es sind heute so viele Reisende bei uns eingetroffen, daß ich nicht weiß, ob noch zwei Zimmer frei sind.

B. Gut, sehen Sie zu; aber beeilen Sie sich etwas.

— This room is very clean; if the others are like it, we have not fallen amiss.

W. Gentlemen, I have but one room with two beds to offer you.

A. On what floor is the room?

W. On the third.

A. It is rather high, but we must yield to necessity.

B. I do not mind the room, provided the bed is good, and that one can sleep undisturbed.

A. Show us up at once, and have our luggage carried up.

B. Tell them to make a good fire.

A. Is there no bell in the room?

W. Excuse me, there is one beside the looking-glass.

A. But where is the bellpull? I do not see any.

W. Well you are right. That big wood-merchant must have broken it.

B. We do not care who broke it; put up another.

A. Does the door shut well? I do not see either a key or a safety-bolt.

W. There is no occasion for any; you are among honest people here.

A. Very good, but after all you have travellers come here whom you do not know.

W. None but honest folks come here.

A. Your answers admit of no reply. I am sure they must have let off a lot of fireworks on the day you were born.

W. I' faith I know nothing about that; but everybody says as you do. It is droll, all the same.

A. Put a night-light, and a tinder-box or lucifer matches on my night table.

B. To-morrow morning at five o'clock precisely, you will bring us coffee with milk and some rolls.

W. Must I also bring your bill?

A. Of course.

W. (Aside) These are travellers that order plenty of things! It is to be hoped they won't forget the waiter.

— Dieser Saal ist recht sauber, steht der Nest damit in Verhältnis, so haben wir es gut getroffen.

K. Meine Herren, ich kann Ihnen nur ein Zimmer mit zwei Betten anbieten.

A. In welcher Etage liegt das Zimmer?

K. In der dritten Etage.

A. Das ist etwas hoch, aber man muß es nehmen wie es kommt.

B. Ich sehe wenig auf das Zimmer, wenn nur das Bett gut ist und man ruhig schlafen kann.

A. Führen Sie uns gleich hin, und lassen Sie unser Gepäck hinaufbringen.

B. Lassen Sie uns ein gutes Feuer machen.

A. Ist keine Klingel im Zimmer?

K. Entschuldigen Sie, es ist eine neben dem Spiegel.

A. Aber wo ist die Schnur? ich sehe sie nicht.

B. Wahrscheinlich, Sie haben Recht. Die muß der dicke Holzhändler abgerissen haben.

B. Was geht es uns an, wer sie abgerissen hat; schaffen Sie eine andere.

A. Schließe die Thür gut? ich sehe weder Schlüssel noch Nachriegel.

K. O, das hat nichts zu sagen; Sie sind bei ehrlichen Leuten.

A. Das ist recht schön; aber es fehren denn doch allerlei Reisende hier ein, die Sie nicht kennen.

K. O, es fehren hier nur ehrliche Leute ein.

A. Nun, das nenn' ich brav geantwortet. Gewiß hat man am Tage Ihrer Geburt ein Feuerwerk abgebrannt.

K. Meiner Treu, ich weiß es nicht; aber alle Welt sagt wie Sie. Das ist tonisch bei allem.

A. Stellen Sie auch ein Nachttisch, ein Feuerzeug oder Zündholzer auf meinen Nachttisch.

B. Morgen früh präche um fünf Uhr bringen Sie uns Kaffee mit Milch und Brödchen.

K. Soll ich Ihnen auch die Rechnung bringen?

A. Das versteht sich.

(Bei Seite.) Das nenn' ich Reisende, die verzehren! Wenn sie nur nicht mein Trinkgeld vergessen.

The little Astronomer.—Der kleine Astronom.

The celebrated French astronomer Gassendi who lived in the beginning of the 17th century, was a wise and learned man. When yet a boy he often got up in the middle of the night in order to observe the moon and the stars. When he was seven years old there arose one evening a dispute between him and his playmates about the motion of the moon and that of the clouds. The other boys asserted that the moon hastened behind the clouds with great speed, while little Peter was of the opinion, that the moon stood still, and the clouds themselves moved.

Der berühmte französische Astronom Gassendi, welcher am Anfange des 17. Jahrhunderts lebte, war ein weiser und gelehrter Mann. Schon als Knabe stand er oft mitten in der Nacht auf, um den Mond und die Sterne zu beobachten. Als er sieben Jahre alt war, entstand eines Abends ein Streit zwischen ihm und seinen Spielpartnern über die Bewegung des Mondes und die der Wolken. Die anderen Knaben behaupteten, daß der Mond mit großer Schnelligkeit hinter den Wolken forteile, während der kleine Peter der Meinung war, daß der Mond still stehe, und die Wolken sich bewegten.

All the reasons which he adduced, did not succeed to convince them, then he led them under a tree, and let them look through the branches at the moon, and showed them how the moon continuously remained to stand between the same branches, while the clouds passed on in great rapidity.

The Outwitted Fortune Teller.—Der überlistete Wahrsager.

In a village once appeared a man, who told the people fortunes for money. A peasant, who had often made himself merry about it, went one day to him, in order to learn something about his future. After the fortuneteller foretold him various probable and improbable things, the peasant without more ado started to depart.

"Well how is it with the pay?" asked him the fortune teller. "Payment?" replied the peasant, and looked surprised at him. "Yes, indeed," said the other, "shall I then get nothing for my trouble?" "If you knew all beforehand," answered him the peasant, "the past, the present and the future, then you must also have known that I have no money with me. Now only wait till all has happened that you announced to me, then I will pay you."

Alle Gründe, die er ihnen anführte, vermochten nicht, sie zu überzeugen. Da führte er sie unter einen Baum, ließ sie durch die Zweige nach dem Monde sehen, und zeigte ihnen, wie der Mond fortwährend zwischen denselben Zweigen stehen blieb, während die Wolken mit großer Schnelligkeit vorüberzogen.

In einem Dorfe erschien einst ein Mann, welcher den Leuten für Geld wahrsgaute. Ein Bauermann, welcher sich schon oft darüber lustig gemacht hatte, ging eines Tages zu ihm, um etwas über seine Zukunft zu erfahren. Nachdem der Wahrsager ihm mancherlei Wahrscheinliches und Unwahrscheinliches prophezeite, wollte der Bauer sich wieder entfernen.

"Nun, wie ist es mit der Bezahlung?" fragte ihn der Wahrsager. "Bezahlung?" verließte der Bauer, und sah ihn verwundert an. "Nun ja," antwortete jener, "soll ich denn nichts für meine Mühe bekommen?" "Wenn Ihr alles vorher wißt," erwiderte ihm der Bauer, "die Vergangenheit, die Gegenwart und die Zukunft, dann müßt Ihr auch gewußt haben, daß ich kein Geld bei mir habe. Nun wartet nur, bis alles eingetroffen ist, was Ihr mir verkündet habt, dann werde ich Euch bezahlen."

Die vier Viertel des Lebens.—The Four Quarters of Life.

A philosopher who wanted to cross a stream, stepped into a boat. While crossing he asked the ferryman: "Do you understand Arithmetic?"—"Arithmetic? No, sir, I have never heard of that," replied the ferrymann.—"I am sorry for you, because one quarter of your life has been lost!"—A few minutes later he asked again: "Do you know anything about Mathematics?"—The ferryman smiled and answered: "No, sir!"—"Oh!" cried the philosopher, "another quarter of your life is lost!"—Soon the philosopher asked a third question: "Have you any knowledge of Astronomy?"—"Oh, no, dear sir!"—"Well, then a third quarter of your life has been lost!"—At this moment the boat ran against a rock and began to sink. The ferryman jumped up, threw off his coat, and asked, with fright pictured in his face: "Can you swim?"—"No!" was the philosopher's reply.—"Well, then," said the ferryman, "get on my back quickly, or else all four quarters of your life will be lost at once!"

Ein Philosoph, der einen Strom überschiffen wollte, bestieg ein Boot. Während der Überfahrt fragte er einen Fährmann: "Versteht Ihr Arithmetik?" "Arithmetik? Nein, davon habe ich noch gar nichts gehört," antwortete der Fährmann. — Der Philosoph entgegnete: "Ach that mir leid, denn ein Viertel Eures Lebens ist verloren." Wenige Minuten darauf fragte er wieder: "Versteht Ihr etwas von der Mathematik?" — Der Fährmann lächelt und entgegnete: "Nein!" — "Ach!" rief der Philosoph, "ein zweites Viertel Eures Lebens ist verloren!" — Eine dritte Frage des Philosophen lautete: "Habt Ihr Kenntnisse in der Astronomie?" — "Ach nein, lieber Herr!" — "Nun, so ist ein drittes Viertel Eures Lebens verloren!" — Gerade in diesem Augenblick stieß das Boot auf eine Felsen spitze und begann zu sinken. Der Fährmann sprang auf, warf seinen Rock ab und fragte mit angstlicher Miene: "Könnt Ihr schwimmen?" — "Nein," war die Antwort des Philosophen. — "Nun, so segt Euch schnell auf meinen Rücken, sonst sind alle vier Viertel Eures Lebens auf einmal verloren!"
